RAYMOND GOLD IN KENTUCKY
FOR SOCIOLOGY MEETING

MISSOULA--

Dr. Raymond L. Gold, a sociology professor who is director of the Institute for Social Research at the University of Montana in Missoula, attended a meeting in Lexington, Ky., through Friday, April 23, that concerned developing guidelines for sociologists in social impact assessment research.

Gold is one of six U.S. sociologists who were authorized by the American Sociological Association to develop the guidelines. The group met in Kentucky to continue their work which began last fall.

Gold will also attend a Western Social Science Association meeting in Tempe, Ariz., on April 30 that will concern boomtowns.

After the Tempe meeting, Gold will meet with local leaders in Durango, Colo., to discuss plans for development of natural resources in the Durango area.
